Cooper Racing...

It has been fifty years since Charles Cooper and his son John founded the Cooper racing name that was to become synonymous with the now famous Mini Cooper. Working from a small BMC garage in Surbiton, they initially designed and built the famous Formula III Cooper 500, the first racing car with a rear-mounted engine which went on to win many Championships with legendary names like Stirling Moss behind the wheel. The Cooper Car Company expanded through the late 1940s and early 1950s and continued to produce race winning cars.

The Company consolidated and built upon its early successes with Formula III, going on to be successful in Formula II and sports car racing before ultimately reaching the pinnacle of racing in Formula I. With Jack Brabham driving, Cooper Cars won the World Championship twice – in 1959 and 1960. The era of the rear-engined racing car, pioneered by John Cooper, and the pedigree of the Cooper name, was established and here to stay.

Coopers had by now enjoyed great success in nearly every racing formula. It was not long before the racing potential of the recently-launched Mini was realised. With the blessing of Sir Alec Issigonis, the car was soon re-engineered for saloon car racing and rallying. The Mini Cooper was more successful than anyone would have believed possible, becoming the first British car to win the European Rally Championships while taking the chequered flag at the Monte Carlo Rally three times. The Cooper name was by then firmly and irrevocably linked to the Mini. It became an icon of the swinging sixties with film stars, royalty, pop and rock stars all clamoring to get their hands on this famous little car. BMC went on to produce 150,000 Mini Coopers until production finally ceased in 1971.

Cooper wheel hubcaps and side repeater mirrors

In the late 1980s, John Cooper Garages was supplying Cooper conversion kits to a new generation of Mini enthusiasts, especially in Japan. This clearly demonstrated that there was growing demand for a Mini Cooper with the same performance and kudos as the original.

Rover recognised the potential too and expressed interest in the Mini Cooper's 'Renaissance'. John and Michael Cooper suggested that the Mini Cooper should be re-introduced for the 1990s.

John Cooper Garages worked alongside Rover to re-engineer the A series engine in a way which would justify its Cooper badging, first developing the 1275cc carburettor version and then the 1.3 injection model. The relaunch of the Mini Cooper was an immediate success.

With S, and then Si, conversion packs available from John Cooper Garages, followed by the introduction of a completely new Mini Cooper S, then Grand Prix, Cooper S Touring and Sport 5, the Mini Cooper S variants have again proved to be the fastest, biggest-little car in the world today.

Cooper S works

1999 marks the 40th Anniversary of the world's most famous and loveable car, that mischievous Mini! This year is also the 40th Anniversary of John Cooper's racing cars winning the Formula I World Championship, a triumph that was repeated in 1960 when Coopers won both the Driver's and Constructor's World Championships. To mark such a doubly auspicious occasion, John Cooper Garages have produced their most exciting S ever – the 90bhp Cooper S Works – a celebration of the Cooper Works S Touring cars of the 1960s.

Goodmans parcel shelf speakers

S Works stainless door cappings with alloy door furniture and optional Recaro leather seats

The new Cooper S Works not only emulates the characterful Works car of the 1960s, but provides luxury that really belongs to the next millennium. Like the Cooper S Touring and Sport 5, the S Works is based on the current Mini Cooper with all its modern safety features, including driver's airbag and strengthened doors with side-impact beams. Owners of the new Cooper S Works will be joining a very exclusive club – only 250 S Works will be produced and sold worldwide. Of course, the S Works will make way for the new, completely redesigned Mini Cooper in the Year 2000.

Following the great success of the Cooper S Touring and Cooper Sport 5 (both of which are still available) John Cooper's engineers set about developing the engine to deliver the maximum achievable power whilst maintaining improved torque characteristics and drivability. After hours of research and development from our dedicated and enthusiastic team, new engine enhancements now generate a power output of 90bhp! This incredible 40 per cent increase over the standard engine has been achieved through ingenious improvements in engine breathing, gas flow, fuel delivery and exhaust emission. As Mike Cooper put it, "This is the last engine conversion, this is as far as it goes. We now have the maximum power that can be produced without major transmission mods!"

Exclusive Cooper badging on bonnet and boot

Optional Rover Black leather "Mini Cooper" embossed seat

Optional five-speed gearbox comes with five-speed leather gear knob

Limited edition numbered chassis plate

The S Works is fitted with a new, larger valve, fully-ported S stage cylinder-head, polished and gas-flowed with larger inlet valves. In addition, the car comes with 1.5 roller rockers and the compression ratio is revised to 10.1:1. Fuel pressure has been increased and the injection and throttle bodies matched to suit. The inlet manifold is modified with improved gas-flow and is polished and matched to the head. A totally redesigned air-cleaner box is fitted to improve breathing and a new exhaust system with a specially-designed freeflow three branch exhaust manifold and twin upswept exhaust tail-pipes.

New S Works air-cleaner box and engine modifications

Luxuries abound in the new S Works. Apart from extra power, the S Works interior conveys a sense of racing pedigree: special engine-turned stainless steel dashboard (based on the original racing Cooper dash); matching door capping inserts; and John Cooper alloy fittings throughout – door handles, window winders, door pulls and door lock covers right down to the alloy brake and clutch pedals. The dash also houses a superb Alpine CD/radio coupled to a pair of Goodman hi-fi speakers on the rear parcel shelf to pump out your favourite sounds, whatever the era!

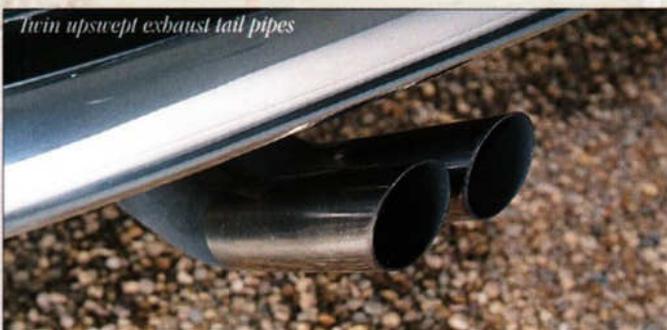

Alloy brake and clutch pedals

The boot and bonnet have exclusive Cooper badging which complements the John Cooper etched stainless steel door sill edgings, white side repeater lenses, Cooper wheel badges and alloy locking fuel-cap. Great attention is paid to every detail, right down to Cooper badged alloy dip-stick and valve caps! Finally, the car has an S Works chassis plate with limited edition number and exclusive red and silver S Works decals plus matching silver pin-striping.

S Works side decals with matching silver pin-stripe and alloy fuel-cap

The Cooper S Works can be ordered in a wide range of nine exciting exterior paint colours and four model variations. The standard S Works retains the Mini Cooper's four-speed gearbox, with the addition of body-coloured wheel arches and low profile tyres on the standard 12 inch rims. Of course, the S Works can be ordered with either the five-speed Jack Knight gearbox or the Rover Sports Pack which includes 175 x 50 x 13 tyres on 13 x 6 alloy wheels, body-coloured flared wheel arches and uprated shock absorbers together with two extra driving lamps and three auxiliary gauges. The ultimate S Works combines the Rover Sports Pack with the five-speed gearbox. Whichever option you choose, you will enjoy the very best in Mini Cooper S driving.

Cooper S Touring

The 1999 Cooper S Touring and the Cooper S Sport 5 are available directly, and exclusively, from John Cooper Garages. These two distinctive models are as exciting to drive as the Cooper S was in the 1960s. Moreover both cars possess many of the modern safety features which were not available 40 years ago: driver's air-bag, pre-tension seat-belts, high strength steel door-beams plus a host of additional equipment as standard. The latest Cooper S admirably fulfils all the criteria demanded of a modern car.

Both the Touring and the Sport 5 benefit from the latest developments made to the renowned 'A' Series engine. With twin-point fuel-injection and many engineering advancements, the 1999 Mini Cooper S stands as a truly remarkable achievement in small-car packaging. John Cooper Garages is proud to boast a power output exceeding 85bhp and a torque figure over 20 per cent greater than the standard Mini Cooper. Improvements have also been made to the handling and suspension of the car to match the substantial increase in engine performance.

Although the 1999 Mini Cooper S Touring shares the same powerful 85bhp engine as the Sport 5, this model retains the Cooper's four-speed gearbox with its 2.7 final drive. Whilst this ensures smooth, effortless long-distance driving, the increase in torque guarantees a fast getaway when required. The alloy wheels are fitted with 165 Dunlop low profile tyres that make the handling electric.

To the Cooper S Sport 5 we have added a Jack Knight five-speed helical gearbox. As supplier of gearboxes to the Cooper Racing Teams, our valued relationship with Jack Knight is one which has spanned many years. Fitted as standard to this model, the quality and reliability of this gearbox has been proven through improvements made over

Cooper Specials

Research and Development continues to play a vital role at John Cooper Garages. As well as the new Cooper S Works and other models, John Cooper Garages are proud to have worked on some very special Minis during 1997/8. For Rover we produced the Mini Limo especially for their stand at the Frankfurt Motor Show, this was the ultimate Mini Cooper, packed with innovative ideas and sumptuously luxurious. Some of the features which were fitted to the car are listed below.

During 1999, we are planning to unveil the latest version of H15 FUN, similar to the Mini Limo but lighter and much, much faster! At John Cooper Garages we can produce bespoke cars for the discerning owner and will continue to do so well into the next century.

Listed below are a few examples of work already carried out by our experienced team.

- All Engine Conversions. In addition to the engine packages already mentioned, John Cooper Garages undertake special projects for those wishing to obtain even greater power from their Mini Cooper.
- Full colour resprays. Performed by experts using the latest in high-tech equipment, we offer flat, metallic, or pearlescent paint finishes.
- Retro bumpers as Mk I and Mk II 1960s Cooper
- Custom-built dashboards and Interiors
- Built-up sound systems
- Leather-bound Wilton carpets
- Lambswool rugs
- Self-closing/locking systems
- Headlinings in exotic fabrics
